Best Practice 1

1. Title of the Practice – Webinar-Focused Online Teaching and Learning Process

2. Objectives of the Practice: Physical attendance in class was not permitted during COVID 19. Through the use of webinars, students can partake in classes regardless of their location. This assists students in expanding their abilities and knowledge within their selected field.

3. The Context: The IQAC, in collaboration with various college departments, organised a number of webinars on various topics for students and other stakeholders.

4. The Practice: During webinars, the IQAC, all departmental teachers, professors from various institutes and the librarian present PowerPoint-based lectures on a wide variety of topics. Through Google Classroom, the college's teachers' council secretary has created a well-structured framework.

5. Problems Encountered and Resources Required: Students from impoverished families and remote areas of the district who were unable to attend online classes due to a lack of smart phones and inadequate internet connectivity experienced extreme mental stress and strain.

6. Evidence of success: The high number of students who participate in webinars and the interaction between instructors and students are indicators of success. A majority of the students appeared directly in the exams, and the results exceeded expectations.

Best Practice 2:

1. Title of the Practice: College's website up gradation

2. Objectives of the Practice: To help the students and other stakeholders.

3. The context: During the pandemic, online mode education has become essential. The ideal location for sharing any type of information is the college website. Therefore, website modernization is crucial for enhancing the administration of online processes.

4. The Practice: The website reflects the institution. The website of the college has been upgraded from text-based to graphic-based templates. Several sections have been included to assist scholars and other interested parties. A dynamic bulletin board has been established to share all the most recent information.

5. Problems Encountered and Resources Required: The majority of students and faculty are still unwilling or unmotivated to utilise the website. Thus, they leave behind numerous vital details.

6. Evidence of success: Students utilise the website with ease for online admissions, form filling, and all other tasks.
